At the other six were on the point of being overpowered and fired a volley into the crowd. The crowd fled, leaving fifteen of their number on the ground. Three were dead, a man, a woman and a boy. The remaining twelve were all seriously injured, most of them being women. The village is now occupied by troops.

The strike at Parma has assumed alarming proportions. Fifty thousand peasants refuse all terms unless the farmers offer better wages. The farmers, however, have announced that the purpose of protecting those who are working in the fields. The strikers have occupied their old position in the city beyond the River Parma, barricaded the streets and destroyed the lamps, so that the town is in darkness. They have also organized a regular war against the troops. Skirmishes occur daily, the strikers using stones and the troops their rifles. Meanwhile, owing to the general strike, food is becoming scarce, and the situation is daily becoming more alarming. Details as to the fatalities are unavailable, the censor stopping all telegrams.

DOMINATED BY BUTLER

Investigation of Remy Murder Reveals

PARIS, June 27.—The arrest in this city yesterday of the butler Remy, charged with complicity in the murder of Auguste Remy, a wealthy retired banker, who was stabbed to death June 6 in his home in Paris, has revealed the existence of an astounding state of affairs in the banker's household prior to the assassination.

The banker's nephew, named Raingo, was submitted to a severe examination, at the end of which he told the magistrate that Remy had killed his uncle. Then breaking down completely, Raingo explained after years of service in his uncle's house, Remy had become complete master of the establishment, gaining ascendancy over the banker's wife to such a point that the keys to her money and jewel boxes were always in his possession.

The young man confessed also that the relations between Remy and Remy had been of a scandalous character. Remy often complained of Remy's growing domination in his household, but his wife defended the butler. The climax came the day before the assassination when the banker discovered his nephew and Remy together. He then informed his wife that he would no longer endure the situation and that he intended to send his nephew to a disciplinary school. Remy, however, refused to believe the stories told her maid and finally in company with her maid killed the butler.

That same night Raingo has declared that Remy and Remy quarreled during dinner and Remy killed the banker by stabbing him with a dessert knife. After killing the old man the butler arranged the house and the dining-room in such a manner as to give support to the theory that the crime had been committed by burglars.

HILL ENTERTAINED

Ambassador Guest of Prince Von Buelow at Dinner in Berlin.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

BERLIN, June 27.—Prince Von Buelow, the Imperial German ambassador, gave a dinner to-night in honor of Dr. David Jayne Hill, the new American ambassador. The guests included the ministers: Herr Wilhelm von Eichen, Herr von Bethmann-Hollweg, Freiherr von Rheinbaben, Herr Delbrück and Herr von Moltke, Privy Councillor von Holleben, Professors Harnack and Adolf Wagner.

Mr. Hill and his staff were evening dress. The reception tendered to Minister Hill by the Kaiser on June 19th was an informal affair, as she does not hold any official position in the empire. She expressed pleasure at making his acquaintance, and the ambassador and members of the embassy withdrew after a desultory conversation. The entire affair occupied less than half an hour.

Dr. Hill hopes while in Berlin to continue his "History of Diplomacy," bringing it up to the present time.

NOT INVITED TO WINDSOR PARTY

Liberal Labor Leaders Are Ignored, and Followers Are Hurt Over Incident.

TO DEMAND AN EXPLANATION

Danger of Post-Office and Public Telephones as Disseminators of Disease.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

LONDON, June 27.—Feeling is running high among the Liberal labor members of the House of Commons over the exclusion of Kell Hardie, Victor Grayson and Arthur Ponsonby from the Windsor party. Mr. Ponsonby was the private secretary of the late Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. He and the other two voted with the minority in a protest against the King's visit to Reval, where he met the Czar, and this is assumed to be the only reason why he did not receive an invitation, though six members in the minority received an invitation. Kell Hardie was invited last year, but did not go, and it was well known that he would not have gone this year if he received an invitation.

Nevertheless, the Laborites resent the discrimination, and discussed it at a party meeting which addressed a letter to Lord Knollys, the King's secretary, asking for an explanation. The Liberal talk of signing an address to Mr. Ponsonby, who is in receipt of letters from his constituents expressing regret and indignation at his treatment. It should be noted that the Liberal members did not receive invitations, but Mr. Redmond and his colleagues long ago announced that they would not attend any court functions and consequently they have never been invited.

Will Not Be Complete.

Great efforts are being made all over the country to induce old volunteers who have not yet joined the new territorial forces to do so by Tuesday, when the force should be complete. The force will not be complete is certain. After three months' existence the territorial army has less than 200,000 of the 315,000 men required.

The number of units required is 37, each of which must have 30 per cent. of its establishment before it is recognized by the war office. Many units, especially in large towns, show a heavy deficit. Essex has only 3,545 of the 6,781 required in its county of London 4,282 of the 10,717 necessary. Middlesex has less than half the required number.

Danger in Telephone.

The medical officer of Westminster calls attention to the danger of post-office public telephones as disseminators of disease. He points out that the call boxes are dirty and dusty and suitable for the harboring and breeding of dangerous germs. He quotes a case wherein an examination of the mouthpiece of a transmitter resulted in the finding of typical tubercle bacilli, which developed tubercles in two guinea pigs.

An influenza meeting was held at the Mansion House yesterday with the object of forming an association for the organization of London charities. The annual income of London charities exceeds $50,000,000, which is received by about 1,500 institutions, each with a few exceptions, spending the income without any relation to other institutions. This leads to great waste and a misdirection of effort.

HAVE MORE THAN ENOUGH

Bryan Certain of His Nomination and Sanguine He Will Be Elected.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—A staff correspondent of the Star telegraphs to-day from Lincoln, Neb.: "Mr. Bryan has a very good chance of above the necessary two-thirds on the first ballot," said Mr. William J. Bryan to me yesterday as we sat in the sun parlor of his charming home. "I am sure of it. I have a magnificent expansion of the Republican party under the warm June sun. They talk about breaking that phantom," he continued. "They will find it pretty difficult to stampede instructed delegates."

Mr. Bryan is assured of his nomination and feels certain of victory at the polls in November. I have known him to be confident in 1896 and in 1900, to be hopeful in his party's success in 1904, but there is no mistaking the difference in the caliber of his sincere belief this time that triumph is coming his way.

The most interesting feature of my visit to Lincoln is the ascertainment of the character of the campaign he proposes to wage and to have the Democratic party conduct. It is to be unequivocally radical. I use that phrase to express his distinction between the radicalism of the Democratic party and his own pretended radicalism of the Republican party. Mr. Bryan has felt the pulse of the West and Northwest and believes he has made no miscount of the beatings. In various dispatches I have tried to describe the intense feeling which pervades this whole Western country and which would surprise any man from the East who should get into it and absorb it. This is the feeling which has been aroused by the teachings of Roosevelt, of La Follette and of Bryan himself, and which now has gone beyond the limitations which even they set. The floods have been unleashed and Mr. Bryan proposes to ride upon their crest.

Mr. Bryan thinks that the Republicans by their platform and their nomination of Vice-President, to please the House leaders, have fallen short of attempt to catch the full wishes of the people. He believes that the people will resent this half-loaf of radicalism and will turn to him and the Democratic party for the full need of a radical change of mind, he will ask the delegates in the Democratic convention to take off the limit and play the game to the wishes of the Radical of the Western country.

FRENCH MOVEMENT AGAINST ABSINTHE

Bill to Prohibit Manufacture, Circulation and Sale Introduced in Chamber of Deputies.

ENORMOUS AMOUNT USED

Charge Against Gregori Will Be Attempted Wilful Homicide, With Premeditation.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

PARIS, June 27.—The movement against absinthe is growing. One proposed bill is already before the Chamber of Deputies, and 115 Senators representing all parties, have introduced another in the Senate, interdicting its manufacture, circulation or sale. The preamble of this bill states that the consumption of absinthe increased from 84,000,000 gallons in 1901 to nearly 90,000,000 gallons in 1904. France is drinking more absinthe to-day than the rest of Europe combined.

Trial of Gregori.

The preliminary examination of Louis Gregori, the military writer for the Gaulois, who wounded Major Dreyfus during the ceremonies in the Pantheon at the reinterment of Zola's body, has been finished. The papers have been sent to the indictments court for a decision as to how he shall be tried.

Gastinne Renette, as a gynecum expert, made a roasting test of the revolver used in the Pantheon shooting, firing it twice in the morgue at a body clad with Dreyfus's coat. Renette's report of the experiment shows that the revolver was capable of killing the major; therefore the charge will

LOEB REJECTS HIGH OFFICES

Bridges, of Scribner's, who had been invited as luncheon guests, occupied the front of the car, and the two national committee men, before they were out of the village, but did not offer them a lift. Mr. Ward and Mr. Kellogg were a bit late for lunch, but then they had more time to admire the views during the three-mile drive.

Could Not Remember.

After Secretary Taft and Mr. Ward had left in the government automobile shortly after 2 o'clock, General Wright was left in the car at Washington, where he is to spend the week-end with Bourke Cochran and General Ide, whom General Wright knew in the Philippines. General Wright had nothing to say to Secretary Taft's statement, and could not remember that he had heard anything about the national committee chairmanship.

Taft Is Very Agreeable

Signs Cards for Everybody and Wears Great Smile.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Candidate Taft made a fast automobile run in from Oyster Bay, beating the train. The secretary left the machine at the West Twentieth Street ferry. On the way over to the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City, many passengers handed cards to the secretary with requests for his autograph. He smilingly complied with all, and soon he found himself surrounded by a crowd on the upper deck, who were chatting as freely with him as if they had known him for years. That is one of the most notable things about Mr. Taft. It takes a man only about two seconds to get acquainted with him and to feel perfectly at ease.

Some of the passengers who talked with him were women. "Mr. Secretary," said one woman, pointing at her

PRESIDENT IS ARRANGING AFRICAN HUNTING TRIP

In Correspondence With Famous Elephant Hunter and Number of Others Who Are Giving Information. Will Pay Visit to England on Return.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

LONDON, June 27.—The Edinburgh Scotsman states that President Roosevelt has asked Frederick Courtney Selous, the famous elephant hunter and author, to make preliminary arrangements for a hunting trip in Africa and fishing trip in British East Africa. A caravan will be organized at Mombasa. The trip will probably last eight months. Mr. Roosevelt will visit England on his return.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

OSYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 27.—When Secretary Loeb was asked this afternoon concerning a report that Frederick Courtney Selous, the English big game hunter and African explorer, had been empowered by President Roosevelt husband, who had just got Mr. Taft to write his name in a note book, "he is a Democrat, but he won't vote the Democratic ticket next election. Now you won't, you know you won't, John," she added, addressing her husband.

"No, I won't," said John, and Mr. Taft smiled from ear to ear.

"There's another Democratic vote for you," said another man, who wanted a card signed.

Then up stepped a six-year-old boy, with a bashful finger in his mouth. He held out a postcard toward the Secretary.

"Hello, there, sonny," said Mr. Taft in his jolliest voice, "so you're in the business, too, come on over here and give me the card."

Coming to Virginia.

Mr. Taft left Jersey City in a regular parlor car at 4:50 o'clock. Questions about the report that he was to take up his summer residence at Oyster Bay, Mr. Taft replied: "I have the thought of it, but I don't know."

It was learned to-day that while at Hot Springs the Secretary will busy himself with the preparation of his address of acceptance, which he will deliver some time between July 20th and 25th at Cincinnati to the committee, which will wait on him.

It is understood that the secretary will not finish this address until after the Democratic platform shall have been adopted at Denver because there are likely to be some planks in it that he may wish to discuss. After this address the secretary will return to Hot Springs, where he will remain until September 1st, when he will furnish his formal letter of acceptance of the nomination of the presidency.
